FINDING YOUR OUSE VALLEY WAY!
New information panels in place

The Great Ouse Valley Trust is delighted to report that its work to replace all of the information boards along the Ouse Valley Way long-distance footpath through Cambridgeshire is now completed. The new design and fresh content is shown here.

We hope that with renewed awareness of the importance of the outdoors for our health and well-being, these panels will further encourage people to discover the delights of the riverside path, and the surprises it has to offer on our doorstep.

The new look includes updated examples of the flora and fauna to be spotted along sections section of the path, plus illustrated notes on places of local historic interest. There are also clever diversions shown – circular walks – for those wanting alternative strolls to end up where they started! The safety advice has been updated and a concise Countryside Code added.

This has been the biggest project completed so far for the Trust. Thirteen panels were redesigned, reillustrated and rewritten during lock down. For the new boards we acknowledge the assistance received from local ecologist Dr Pat Doody plus local historians.

The Trust is grateful for funding from Highways England's A14 Legacy Fund delivered by Cambridgeshire County Council. For further information on the work of the Trust please visit www.greatousevalleytrust.org.uk

Ian Jackson, Great Ouse Valley Trust

Great Ouse Valley Trust
Our landscape for life

The replacement board at Meadow Lane, St Ives, with Ian Jackson from the Great Ouse Valley Trust

The route of the Ouse Valley Way